

Education USA

Your Official Source on U.S. Higher Education

EducationUSA is a U.S. Department of State network of over 400 international student advising centers in more than 170 countries. The network promotes U.S. higher education to students around the world by offering accurate, comprehensive, and current information about opportunities to study at accredited postsecondary institutions in the United States. EducationUSA also provides services to the U.S. higher education community to help institutional leaders meet their recruitment and campus internationalization goals. EducationUSA Centers are located in an array of venues including U.S. embassies and consulates, Fulbright commissions, bi-national centers, universities, and non-profit organizations.

EducationUSA Serves International Students

Each year, EducationUSA advisers respond to millions of inquiries from international students. Advisers offer a wide range of in-person and virtual services to students and their families based on Your 5 Steps to U.S. Study, a guide to navigating the U.S. higher education application process. Advisers provide information on a host of topics, including:

- The admissions process and standardized testing requirements
- How to finance a U.S. education
- The student visa process and preparing for departure to the United States

EducationUSA Serves the U.S. Higher Education Community

EducationUSA advisers support accredited U.S. institutions' international student recruitment and internationalization efforts in a number of ways, including:

- Organizing school visits and college fairs, virtual and in-person
- Providing information about foreign educational systems and scholarship programs
- Connecting U.S. and foreign educational institutions and associations
- Analyzing regional student mobility trends

To find an advising center, visit EducationUSA.state.gov.

Your Official Source on U.S. Higher Education

Visit EducationUSA.state.gov for more information.

